EXPERIENCE

Front-End Web Developer (Full-Time), Artistic Digital Services; Evanston, IL — 2012 - 2013

— I took images from the design team and made them into real websites;

— I made old websites work more efficiently while adding new content to them;

— I video chatted with clients and taught them to use the websites I built; they saved time and energy while having fun.

— I created reusable layouts or added features to existing layouts for websites that use a program called WordPress.

— I moved websites from one program to another without affecting the way the websites looked.

— I built the parts of websites that allow you to log in or sign up for newsletters and made sure they were ok to submit.

— I tested the websites I coded to make sure they could not be hacked into by people with less experience than me.

Front-End Web Developer (Freelance), Cubicle Ninjas; Glen Ellyn, IL — 2012

— I coded designs into websites and learned two new ways to write more efficient code.

Intern, Capacitr; Chicago, IL — 2012

— I brainstormed, outlined, designed, and built a website.

— I also helped my boss make websites appear as close to the first result of a google search as possible.

Intern; DSI Architects; Columbus, OH — 2010-2011

— I headed the design of a well-funded rooftop garden, digitized blueprints, designed presentations, and built models.

Website Administrator, B is for Bounce; Chicago, IL — 2008 - Present

— I design, manage, co-author, edit and market the content for the electronic music blog bisforbounce.com.
